A page from a design document for a guide rail system, detailing the installation and specifications of the components. The page includes diagrams, notes, and technical specifications for the installation of guide rails and posts, along with instructions for ensuring proper spacing, alignment, and clearance. The document is part of a series of errata and design considerations for the New York State Department of Transportation's heavy post blocked-out guide railing system.